Art Unit: 1651

Claims 1-18 are presented for examination on the merits.

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claims are rendered vague and indefinite for the recitation of "said" optimum tonicity" in claim 1 which lacks antecedent basis for the claims in which it occurs. However, overall the claims are rejected for the usage of the term "tonicity" which is unclear as to what this term is intended to mean in the claims. The metes and bounds of the claims can not be determined. Also the term "relative" used in claim 11 is unclear and subjective in its meaning and is not recommended in the claims. Thus, deletion of "similar relative proportion" is suggested for claim 11 and its dependent claim 12. Further, "the tonicity of the medium" lacks antecedent basis in claim 13.

3. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CAR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CAR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CAR 3.73(b).

4. Claims 1-18 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-2 of U.S. Patent No. 09/771,221. ^{application serial number} Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims would have been made obvious over the copending claims and the only difference being scope of the claimed subject matter.

5. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

6. Claims 1-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over U.S. Patent No. 5693534 (A) and Wowk et al. (B).

Claims are drawn to processes for cooling living cells comprising the use of cryoprotectant(s).

The cited patents above teach adding cryoprotectants to a medium comprising cells and cooling processes as well as vitrification, note col. 13, all lines of '534 patent and col. 1 and 5-6, all lines of '303.

The process steps of the claims require tonicity.

Art Unit: 1651

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to provide for methods of cooling biological materials as disclosed by both the cited prior art patents, noted above. To add cryoprotectants to a medium comprising cells is clearly within the skill of one of ordinary skill in the cryopreservation art. Vitrification is further a well known procedure and also known to reduce cooling injury. Clearly the claims are prima facie obvious over the cited prior art.

All claims fail to be patentably distinguishable over the state of the art discussed above and cited on the enclosed PTO-892 and/or PTO-1449. Therefore, the claims are properly rejected.

The remaining references listed on the enclosed PTO-892 and/or PTO-1449 are cited to further show the state of the art.

No claims are allowed.
